

Carillo Rods – H Beam vs. A Beam

What's the Difference?

The Pro "H" Beam is the strongest connecting rods that money can buy. No stronger rod is available anywhere. It features the unique "H" beam design that requires more machining operations than other designs. This design provides a rod that is not only the strongest, but it is lighter than most of the OEM rods.

The Sportsman "A" Beam rod was designed for the budget racer in mind that needs a rod that is stronger than OEM rods. The A beam design is easier to machine therefore lowering the cost to the end user.

Thank you for looking,

Gregg Spears